

DDRN after-work meeting:

Developing and engaging community participation in climate change initiative

The DDRN Working Group on "Air Quality and Air Pollution Management in Urban Areas in Less Developing Countries" is arranging an after-work meeting on Friday, December 18, 2009 from 15.00 - 17.00 at COWI in Lyngby, Parallevej 2 - 2 min. from Lyngby station.

The meeting with the Working Group will discuss the current state of participation in urban climate change activities and try to develop a picture of the state of affairs on climate change in South Asia.

The following speakers will present their views:

- Peter Vangsbo Madsen, COWI - challenge for urban climate change
- Tobias Lau, Social Action - public awareness in relation to urban climate mitigation
- Jasper Steinhausen, COWI - Public participation in the Copenhagen municipality climate adaptation plan (not-confirmed)
- Rasmus Vincent, Danish Energy Management - public global climate action – perspective

The floor will then be opened up all interested and to the Working Group for their views, experiences and input on developing networks on climate change and community participation.

Please register to the meeting before December 16, 2009, by sending an email to Peter Vangsbo at: pvma@cowi.dk

Further information about DDRN and DDRN working group on Air Quality and Air Pollution Management in Urban Areas in Less Developing Countries please visit <http://www.ddrn.dk>
Further information about COWI please visit <http://www.cowi.com>

Change of programme: Please note that this meeting should originally have included a representative from the South Asian initiative, CEFI. As the representative could not come to Denmark on this date, a meeting on the same issue with participation from CEFI will be held in early 2010.